

Collection Name: Titre J. Beakerdram Poems
Collection #: MSS 960
Size: 4 items; 0.25 cf.
Dates: undated (probably 1950s-60s)
Processed: September 2007/SDH
Restrictions: None

Scope and Content Note:

Written under the pseudonym Titre J. Beakerdram, these four typed poems are student commentary on faculty and coursework in the MUSC College of Pharmacy during the late 1950s and 1960s. The author was a student, whose name is not known. His poems are pointedly critical of College of Pharmacy Professor J. Hampton Hoch for his teaching practices and treatment of students. Poems are titled: Student Life, Ode to Donald S., Ah! Bitter Fate, and untitled.

Citation form: Titre J. Beakerdram Poems, MSS 960, Waring Historical Library, MUSC (Charleston).

Gift of Ralph Wilkie, 2007.

Subject Headings:

Beakerdram, Titre J. (pseudonym)
Hoch, J. Hampton (John Hampton), 1904-1976.
Education, Pharmacy—history—South Carolina.
Schools, Pharmacy—South Carolina—history.
Poetry
Wit and Humor
Medicine in Literature
Anecdotes