BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

John Furman Daniel, III was born on June 16, 1834 in Edgefield, South Carolina. He attended a private school for boys at Clear Springs in Abbeville County and the Hodges Institute in Greenwood County. He graduated from the Medical College of the State of South Carolina in 1858. His graduation thesis was on "Tubercular Phthisis." He returned to Edgefield to practice medicine and married Susan Adeline Adams in 1870. Dr. Daniel served in the Civil War as a Confederate medical officer in Goodwin's regiment. He also developed a large farm operation. Dr. Daniel died on June 23, 1908.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

Dr. John F. Daniel's Account Book from 1866 contains financial records of patient visits. The index lists on which page a specific patient's records can be found. The individual patient records chronologically list Dr. Daniel's visits, sometimes the reason for the visit, the amount owed, and the payment. The records indicate the method of payment to the doctor was paid by currency or through the barter system.
